The most hilarious moment in life

One of the most fun moments in my life was in junior high school. On Teacher's Day, my friend and I wanted to make it nice and decided to wash the blackboard thoroughly. Since it was very chalked, we agreed that it would be best to wash it with soap and water, so that it would be very clean and look new afterwards. It turned out really great, but it was impossible to write on it. We did this without knowing it would happen, but the class was canceled and we had a good time.
